

Gig for fasting kids

STRATFORD High School will be offering a bit of Rock 'n' Rave to go with the 40-Hour Famine this year.

Organiser and DJ Cory Jacobsen says the concert will be split in two and all students are welcome.

“The first half will be dedicated to rock with five students bands from around Taranaki providing the music.

The second half will be a rave and I will be providing the music.”

Thursday, 14 May 2009, p. 18

Cory decided the concert would be the perfect idea to get students together to support each other and back a great campaign. “Doors open at 7pm this Saturday and tickets cost $10 which you can buy from the schools main office or on the night.”

The student only event will be held at the Stratford High School Hall and it is a drug and alcohol free event.